

Corporate Financial Performance Report — 2019

A narrative summary of annual financial results for 11 publicly traded companies for fiscal year 2019, covering market valuation, profitability, capital structure, and workforce size.

This document presents the 2019 annual financial performance of 11 companies spanning multiple industry sectors. For each company, the report describes market capitalization, revenue, gross profit, net income, earnings per share, EBITDA, shareholder equity, return on investment, and total employee count, as originally recorded for fiscal year 2019.

AAPL

In 2019, AAPL operated in the Information Technology sector and reported a market capitalization of $1,304.76 billion. The company generated revenue of $260,174 million and a gross profit of $98,392 million for the year. It recorded a net income of $55,256 million and earnings per share of $2.97 for the period. AAPL reported EBITDA of $76,477 million, which reflects operating profitability before interest, taxes, depreciation, and amortization, while the company held shareholder equity of $90,488 million on its balance sheet. Profitability relative to invested capital stood at a return on investment of 30.31%. As of 2019, AAPL employed approximately 137,000 people worldwide.

MSFT

In 2019, MSFT operated in the Information Technology sector and reported a market capitalization of $1,203.06 billion. The company generated revenue of $125,843 million and a gross profit of $82,933 million for the year. It recorded a net income of $39,240 million and earnings per share of $5.06 for the period. MSFT reported EBITDA of $54,641 million, which reflects operating profitability before interest, taxes, depreciation, and amortization, while the company held shareholder equity of $102,330 million on its balance sheet. Profitability relative to invested capital stood at a return on investment of 23.22%. As of 2019, MSFT employed approximately 144,000 people worldwide.

GOOG

In 2019, GOOG operated in the Information Technology sector and reported a market capitalization of $917.82 billion. The company generated revenue of $161,857 million and a gross profit of $89,961 million for the year. It recorded a net income of $34,343 million and earnings per share of $2.458 for the period. GOOG reported EBITDA of $46,012 million, which reflects operating profitability before interest, taxes, depreciation, and amortization, while the company held shareholder equity of $201,442 million on its balance sheet. Profitability relative to invested capital stood at a return on investment of 16.67%. As of 2019, GOOG employed approximately 118,899 people worldwide.

PYPL

In 2019, PYPL operated in the Financial Technology sector and reported a market capitalization of $127.01 billion. The company generated revenue of $17,772 million and a gross profit of $7,987 million for the year. It recorded a net income of $2,459 million and earnings per share of $2.07 for the period. PYPL reported EBITDA of $3,631 million, which reflects operating profitability before interest, taxes, depreciation, and amortization, while the company held shareholder equity of $16,929 million on its balance sheet. Profitability relative to invested capital stood at a return on investment of 11.23%. As of 2019, PYPL employed approximately 23,200 people worldwide.

AIG

In 2019, AIG operated in the Banking sector and reported a market capitalization of $44.65 billion. The company generated revenue of $49,746 million and a gross profit of $11,975 million for the year. It recorded a net income of $3,326 million and earnings per share of $3.74 for the period. AIG reported EBITDA of $11,817 million, which reflects operating profitability before interest, taxes, depreciation, and amortization, while the company held shareholder equity of $67,427 million on its balance sheet. Profitability relative to invested capital stood at a return on investment of 4.01%. As of 2019, AIG employed approximately 46,000 people worldwide.

PCG

In 2019, PCG operated in the Manufacturing sector and reported a market capitalization of $24.73 billion. The company generated revenue of $17,129 million and a gross profit of $13,300 million for the year. It recorded a net loss of $7,656 million and a loss per share of $14.5 for the period. PCG reported an EBITDA loss of $6,860 million, which reflects operating profitability before interest, taxes, depreciation, and amortization, while the company held shareholder equity of $5,388 million on its balance sheet. Profitability relative to invested capital stood at a negative return on investment of 141.83%. As of 2019, PCG employed approximately 23,000 people worldwide.

MCD

In 2019, MCD operated in the Food sector and reported a market capitalization of $159.89 billion. The company generated revenue of $21,364.40 million and a gross profit of $11,179.40 million for the year. It recorded a net income of $6,025.40 million and earnings per share of $7.88 for the period. MCD reported EBITDA of $10,687.70 million, which reflects operating profitability before interest, taxes, depreciation, and amortization, while the company held a shareholder equity deficit of $8,210.30 million on its balance sheet. Profitability relative to invested capital stood at a return on investment of 23.26%. As of 2019, MCD employed approximately 205,000 people worldwide.

BCS

In 2019, BCS operated in the Banking sector and reported a market capitalization of $40.78 billion. The company generated revenue of $27,621.90 million and a gross profit of $27,621.90 million for the year. It recorded a net income of $4,180.57 million and earnings per share of $0.72 for the period.

BCS reported EBITDA of $1 million, which reflects operating profitability before interest, taxes, depreciation, and amortization, while the company held shareholder equity of $83,841.26 million on its balance sheet. Profitability relative to invested capital stood at a return on investment of 0.92%. As of 2019, BCS employed approximately 80,800 people worldwide.

NVDA

In 2019, NVDA operated in the Electronics sector and reported a market capitalization of $144 billion. The company generated revenue of $11,716 million and a gross profit of $7,171 million for the year. It recorded a net income of $4,141 million and earnings per share of $1.6575 for the period. NVDA reported EBITDA of $4,066 million, which reflects operating profitability before interest, taxes, depreciation, and amortization, while the company held shareholder equity of $9,342 million on its balance sheet. Profitability relative to invested capital stood at a return on investment of 36.55%. As of 2019, NVDA employed approximately 13,277 people worldwide.

INTC

In 2019, INTC operated in the Electronics sector and reported a market capitalization of $260.35 billion. The company generated revenue of $71,965 million and a gross profit of $42,140 million for the year. It recorded a net income of $21,048 million and earnings per share of $4.71 for the period. INTC reported EBITDA of $32,861 million, which reflects operating profitability before interest, taxes, depreciation, and amortization, while the company held shareholder equity of $77,504 million on its balance sheet. Profitability relative to invested capital stood at a return on investment of 20.47%. As of 2019, INTC employed approximately 110,800 people worldwide.

AMZN

In 2019, AMZN operated in the Logistics sector and reported a market capitalization of $916.15 billion. The company generated revenue of $280,522 million and a gross profit of $114,986 million for the year. It recorded a net income of $11,588 million and earnings per share of $1.1505 for the period. AMZN reported EBITDA of $36,330 million, which reflects operating profitability before interest, taxes, depreciation, and amortization, while the company held shareholder equity of $62,060 million on its balance sheet. Profitability relative to invested capital stood at a return on investment of 13.56%. As of 2019, AMZN employed approximately 798,000 people worldwide.